DAZIE, STAR ATTRACTION AT POLI'S NEXT WEEK

SPECIAL REUSE

All Bridgeport is waiting for next week's show at Poli's. Much has been said, much has been written about the great Dazie, who comes to us next week to show us the kind of entertainment a large portion of the old world enjoys, pantomime. She has a vehicle, "L'Amour de l'Artiste" or the "Love of an Artist" is an ambitious panto-playlet in which are vividly depicted incidents of love, revenge and unselfish affection on the part of a flower girl who becomes a woman in the flash of an eye through her love for Marchel Prateaux, an artist. All is artistic, from the set showing the artist's studio to the acting of Mlle. Dazie herself and of her support, down to the minutest detail. All is played in the truest pantomime spirit—with subtle expression, yet with the meaning of thought and action so clearly defined that the tense little story is told with clearness so that all may see and understand.

Mlle. Dazie comes before us once more as a dancer in "The Love of an Artist" and shows that she constantly is progressing in this branch of art. While brilliant in her dances, and the very poetry of motion, it is as an actress in pantomime—the most difficult branch of stage art—that Mlle. Dazie particularly shines in this new offering. She makes the moods of Nana, the flower girl, as varying as they might be in real life amid such surroundings as we find her in this little drama of Paris cafe and studio life. She expresses in the finest touches the admiration and respect that such a girl, apart from her pedal expertise, she could make a name for herself on our stage.

The chief players support is very good. Frank Relcher, who has played important roles with E. H. Sothern, is the first and exactly the proper atmosphere to the role and to his scenes. In fact, atmosphere—that much abused word—is carefully regarded throughout the entire performance of "The Love of an Artist."

Mlle. M. Carlo as the jealous woman in love with Marchel who stabs Nana, the latter accepting the wound intended for the man she loves, is colorful and temperamental.

The incidental music—and unusually fine incidental music it is, too—is by Frederic Chapin, and Daniel Dore is the special musical director engaged.

Mlle. Dazie and her management are to be congratulated on their success in giving to vaudeville an act of the kind that adds to the worth and interest of a branch of theatricals that constantly is leaping forward in artistic value and in public estimation.

It was the late Louis Morton, the "grand old man," as he was known in England, who gave Dazie her first chance with an individual offering at the Palace Theatre, in London. He gave her a trial week and she stayed at the Palace for eight consecutive months. Since that time, until three years ago, when the engagement with Hammerstein's Grand Opera Company as premiere danseuse retained her in America, Dazie has played annually at the Palace, where she is a prime favorite with the patrons. It is not uncommon for London papers to refer to her as "Gone's only rival" or as "the American Saggiolani." It is the opinion of many that the European and English people are more appreciative and more discerning so far as the dance is concerned than Americans, as the latter seem only to applaud the sensational, and many dancers from this Continent have had to travel abroad

STATE OFFICER VIRELLI VISITS NICKEL HOUSES

Not One Had Fully Conformed to State Regulations, But All Promised to Do So.

Not one of the 14 nickel theatres in the city meets the new state regulations, which are being enforced by the State Police department. State Policeman Frank Virelli, who is a deputy state fire marshal by virtue of his office, visited all the picture houses yesterday. Chief Mooney hustled him in his automobile.

All of the theatre proprietors agreed to conform to the law. Three of the largest picture theatres, one in John St., one in Stratford avenue, and one in Newfield avenue were found to be in first class condition except that they were not properly equipped with a vent pipe to carry off the smoke in case a film should catch fire. This vent pipe is connected with the boiler for the machine. Connected to the pipe must be a 12 inch electric fan. This is provided to prevent a smoke panic in the theatres.

Several of the theatres were without proper exits and in some instances patrons were found standing in the aisles. Several were without the five inch illuminated letters marking the exits. Many were without fire extinguishers.

The steel booths for the machines must have asbestos floors, and windows, held in place by a fine combustible cord, which will release the window in case of fire.

The machine operators have to be licensed. No machine can be operated more than 20 minutes without a stop of five minutes. The door of the operating booth must always be closed, but never locked. The operator is forbidden to smoke in the booth. Within 24 hours after any accident or fire the manager and operator must make a written report of the same to Supt. Thomas F. Egan of the State Police Department.

ORDER FROM THE MOTHER CHURCH

Licenses of 19 Practitioners of New York Christian Scientists Revoked

BOSTON HAS COMPLETE DOMINATION

New York, Oct. 9.—"Where will the lightning next strike?" is the paramount question to-day among the nineteen practitioners of the First Church, Christ, Scientist, following an order from the mother church in Boston revoking the licenses of seven of the practitioners.

The revocation of the licenses of fourteen of the remaining nineteen practitioners is believed to be imminent to-day. An entire re-organization of the church is being effected, the largest in the country, and its complete domination by the Boston church and Mrs. Mary G. Baker Eddy, disavowed by the church, is the cause of the "housecleaning" now in progress, is predicted. With Mrs. Augustus Stetson, the head of the local church, who is a member of the church, and everyone of her adherents threatened with a loss of power in the church, the probability of a division in the church is again being discussed among Christian Scientists.

Arnold Bloom, one of the deposed practitioners, said to-day that there was little danger of a division of the church. "For my part I will remain faithful to the edicts of the mother church and I think the others will, but I would not presume to speak for them. I don't care to discuss the charges."

The board of directors of the Boston church has found the seven deposed practitioners guilty of "gross ignorance of the teachings of the church," or of "wilfully perverting those teachings." This means that they have followed too closely in the footsteps of Mrs. Stetson, who for sixteen years was the first reader at the church.

Payne Davis, another of the "excommunicated" practitioners, intimated that the order from Boston was not a complete prohibition but rather a warning to conform more closely to the teachings of the church, as expected by the mother church and Mrs. Eddy. He said he expected to go ahead with his practicing, but would not say much about what the communication from the mother church contained.

Girl Poses as Boy For Three Years

Cleveland, Oct. 9.—After masquerading as a boy for three years, playing boys games, working in a livery stable, driving a grocer's team and hustling heavy boxes and express packages "Harry Roberts" confessed to the police to being a girl, Lillian Hoffman, stepdaughter of Gottlieb Meiers.

Three years ago the girl, then 17, tired of home, ran away and donned boy's clothes. Since then she has worked in a livery stable cleaning horses, toiled as a helper to a carpenter and delivered ice.

A short time ago she was arrested while in the employ of D. Martin, a grocer. The charge was not serious but led to an inquiry that disclosed her identity. After her confession her stepfather brought her clothes and she went home. She said she had always wanted to be a boy.

Now Is the Time to Select a Piano

Now is the time to make your selection if you intend purchasing a Piano in the near future. The latest styles on the floors of the Wissner Ware-rooms clearly portray the fact that the artisans and craftsmen of the Wissner factories are originators and leaders. Every design that will be in vogue this season is here.

Wissner Pianos

are the only real grand pianos in upright form. The basic principles of grand piano construction are incorporated in the construction of the Wissner Artist Upright Grand Pianos through a scientific reversal of these principles. The fullness of tone, touch and durability are attributes surpassing to those in many grand pianos of repute. These marvelous instruments are built in such a manner that they will forever hold their tone qualities.

Leckerling Pianos have long been known for their durability. The aim of the Leckerling manufacturers is to produce a piano that will give absolute satisfaction to the great mass of buyers who want a dependable instrument at a medium price. The success of their attempt is proven by the popularity of their product. Leckerling Pianos are advertised but little—they have gained their prestige solely on their merits.

Reinhard Pianos have been on the market many years. Thousands of pleased owners are constantly recommending them. It must be remembered that, although Reinhard Pianos can be purchased FROM US as low as $250, they are sold at much higher prices by dealers and others. We own and operate the Reinhard factory and are in a position to sell them at factory prices.

Player Pianos are here to stay. The demand for these wonderful home entertainers is becoming greater every day. Our line is represented by the Wissner, Leckerling and Reinhard Player Pianos. Intending purchasers will save much by buying from us at factory prices.

Used Piano Bargains

We are offering several used and slightly used bargains, some of which were received in trade on player pianos. Their former owners parted with them for the reason that no one was able to play. They accordingly received little if any use. We need the room for the new instruments coming from the factories and will positively sell them at the prices quoted below.
